CHANG TSO-LIN NOW SCHEMES TO OUTWIT HIS PEKING RIVALS

Hopes To 'Come Back' Through Political Strategy

MANDATES HURT

Japanese Refuse To Recognise Him While Writs Stand

BY JOSEF W. HALL
(Staff Correspondent)

Peitaiho, August 13.—Representatives of Chang Tso-lin told me at Mukden that Chang would support Tsao Kun if he were nominated for the presidency to succeed Li Yuan-hung.

Chang's feeling toward Wu Pei-fu remains exceedingly bitter. He also feels strongly against the British on account of the Legation's insistence upon the clearing away of obstacles to the free operation of the Peking-Mukden railroad.

Chang has ceased recruiting after having reformed two of his lost units. Apparently he realises that he could not trust his troops if they were moved south of the wall, and he is scheming, therefore, to recover by political methods what he lost on the battlefield. He says he will gradually return the Peking-Mukden railway rolling stock "if not pressed diplomatically," and if the control of the northern halt is left in his hands.

His real reason for holding on, however, is to force the cancellation of mandates which are greatly embarrassing him in his relations with the Japanese, as they refuse to recognise him as a responsible official while the mandates stand.

Adjournment Is Taken Again In Doylend Action

An adjournment until Thursday was taken in the British Supreme Court before Judge Peter Grain yesterday in the suit brought by Mrs. J. Doylend against her husband, J. P. Doylend, for the recovery of Tls. 4,000, the value of furniture alleged to be owned by Mrs. Doylend and wrongfully detained by her husband.

Attempts to reach a settlement in the matter out of court had apparently been made, but they were unsuccessful. Judge Grain said that Mr. Mancel Reece, attorney for Mrs. Doylend, had telephoned the clerk of the court saying that the action is to be discontinued. Mrs. Doylend, however, declared that she had not instructed Mr. Reece that she would not proceed with the case. Since the last hearing, Mrs. Doylend said, she had been informed that she could obtain her furniture, but she had discovered that many of her things had been auctioned or sold by her husband.

Japanese Trade With China Shows Export Balance

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 8.—The foreign trade of Japan with China for the month of July resulted, according to the returns just published by the Finance Department, in an excess of exports over imports to the aggregate amount of Yen 10,948,000, the former reaching Yen 23,707,000 and the latter Yen 12,759,000. This brings the gross total of the trade since the beginning of the current year up to Yen 190,389,000 for exports, and Yen 95,949,000 for imports, the former indicating an increase of Yen 30,438,000, and the latter a decrease of Yen 507,000, with an excess of exports over imports to the gross amount of Yen 94,440,000. A table showing further details (for the month of July)) is given below:

DOG DAYS STUFF

By Westa

IN that ball game Sunday our gang hit them everywhere except where they weren't.

Every time a Shanghai guy connected he drove the ball right into the eager mitts of the opposition.

Borowski, McGinnis, Aldinger, Stordalsi and Droski! That gang ought to feel at home in the international settlement.

"Why didn't he stop at second, the poor fish!" exclaimed a feminine voice when Wall was tagged out at third trying to stretch his hit in the seventh. Old man Hindsight, Missy, was a great ball player.

Freddy Bills ran clear over into The Thatch's territory to get a slow roller in the fifth, and gummed it up. Two mucha ambish, Frederick.

Droski, the soldier second sacker, is a neat workman. He isn't very flashy, but he grabbed everything that came into his territory and got his man every time. Once, when one came hopping at him awkwardly he dropped on one knee in front of it, to make sure of knocking it down, at least. That's a trick that some of our gang ought to learn. If no can catchee he, at least can man man he.

In the sixth, when Holliday and Bills caught a soldier runner napping off second, and were running him down, there wasn't a single Shanghai player back of Walter, to take a possible throw, or to stop an overthrow. High school stuff!

Wall's bust would have been an easy homer except for the wind. By the time it reached the cement driveway between the swimming bath and the golf club house it had slackened down to a slow trot, and by the time Cummings got over there the wind had turned the ball around, so that it was coming back to meet the soldier gardener.

The outfielders did remarkably well, considering the stiff, gusty wind that was blowing. Wood allowed one to pop out of his claws in the first, but after that he and his co-workers in the rhubarbs, Insurance Smith and Skipper Hopkins, grabbed everything that came their way. Wood had some tough ones, too.

In the fifth, with Massie on third, McGinnis dumped one in front of the plate, and was thrown out at first by Wall, Massie scoring. Wall should have made a bluff throw to Holliday, to drive Massie back, before heaving to Wilhoit. Under the revised rules a player is allowed to use his head as well as his hands. (Private note to Wall: you will hold out that smacker you owe me, will you!)

Scotty turned in his usual good game, and it wasn't his fault that our gang lost. Aided by the typhoon, Scotty's curve was sweeping across the plate almost at right angles. But good as he was, Parsuch was a trifle better. The soldier twirler is a capable athlete. He has an easy, effective delivery, and goes about his task with about as little fuss as anyone that has worked on the Shanghai hill this summer.

Neprud, who called them behind the bat, is so tall that the part of him that projected about the grandstand, and was thus in the direct path of the gale, became chilled. So he called time while he skinned into his old blue warmus.

Wall had his old whip oiled up in great shape, and threw out the only soldier that tried to steal by a matter of yards. Bills taking his perfect heave in fine style. It was easily the best throw to second that a Shanghai catcher has made this summer. And if memory serves, the only one.

The soldiers again today, and if anybody wants to bet on them he can get a wager in this office of a slightly worn but still serviceable pair of canvas oxfords against a new fall overcoat that Shanghai will cop.

CHARGE AGAINST WALLACE DROPPED IN MIXED COURT

Freed On Personal Bond After Two Cases Are Dismissed

Two criminal charges which had been pending in the Mixed Court against W. G. Wallace for more than a month were withdrawn yesterday at a special hearing before American Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Tsang. Wallace had been charged with Arthur M. Spence and G. Y. Chalmers in connection with an alleged insurance fraud, perpetrated, it was said, by the representation of two supposedly bogus insurance companies here. Spence and Chalmers have already been committed for trial in the British Police Court on this charge. The second charge against Wallace was that he had obtained merchandise under false pretenses in Tientsin. When first arrested, Wallace had claimed American citizenship, but recognition was denied him by the consulate here.

At yesterday's hearing in the Mixed Court, which was to have been the first of three special hearings, Detective Sergeant R. W. Yorke, who had investigated on behalf of the police, informed the court that the police were now of the belief that Wallace had been merely an employe of Spence and Chalmers in the insurance business, and did not know that the two companies which they claimed to represent were bogus. He therefore asked that the charge be withdrawn. In this the court concurred.

Attorney Roushkovsky, who represented a merchant named Leibovitch of Tientsin, who had preferred charges of obtaining goods under false pretenses against Wallace, then asked permission of the court to withdraw these charges. The matter, he said, was a civil one, and a settlement had been arranged between Wallace and his client.

When the court had agreed to the withdrawal of the second charge against Wallace, Dr. O. Fischer, who represented him at the hearing, asked that he be released from custody immediately. Dr. Fischer pointed out that when Wallace was first arraigned a month ago, the court had fixed his bail at $3,000, and that he had been unable to raise this sum and was consequently forced to remain in jail for more than a month.

Assessor Jacobs declared that there were other charges still pending against Wallace in Tientsin. Following Dr. Fischer's plea that these too were of a civil rather than a criminal nature and that no specific charges had been received here, the court agreed to release Wallace on his personal bond.

NORTHCLIFFE, PUBLISHER OF MANY BRITISH PAPERS, DEAD

Long Illness Proves Fatal To Great Journalist

HIS PART IN WAR

Did More Than Any Other Briton To Arouse Country

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 14.—Lord Northcliffe died this morning.

Alfred Charles William Harmsworth, Viscount Northcliffe, was fifty-seven years of age. His career, and that of the Daily Mail, which he founded, form one of the great romances of modern journalism.

Northcliffe was the son of Alfred Harmsworth, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law, and he brought to the founding of the Daily Mail the advantages of wide travel and personal knowledge of most kinds of newspaper work. His father was a writer of considerable distinction and had brought his son into contact with literary folk and literary life. Before he launched the Daily Mail, at the age of thirty, he had visited newspaper offices and familiarised himself with newspaper style and practises in a dozen foreign countries. With his brother, Viscount Rothermere, he had, during his twenties, built up one of the greatest, if not the greatest, periodical publishing houses in the world—the Amalgamated Press. In this connection he had personal experience in every branch of daily paper production, and the Daily Mail was the outcome of his own work and inspiration.

Eighteen months were devoted to the preliminary work for the publication of the paper and nearly three months were given over to experimental issues. It was to be a new departure in English journalism, a modernising effort. The total capital at the outset was in the neighborhood of £15,000. Today the authorised capital of the Daily Mail and associated newspapers is well in excess of £2,000,000.

The paper was a success from the initial issue. The first day's sale had been forecasted at 100,000 copies, with possibilities for 150,000. The figure actually sold was 397,215. The experiment met with the immediate approval of all classes. One of the first to congratulate the young editor was Mr. Gladstone.

STRONG FEATURES

A strong cable service and a number of innovations in the way of features, such as a woman's page, brought the Daily Mail into prominence and through liberal expenditure and the extreme efficiency of the staff which he had built up, Northcliffe during the first few months of the paper's life was enabled to accomplish a series of notable coups. To beat every other London paper and to put out a publication for the "busy man" constituted the editor's motto.

Mr. Harmsworth himself did a bit of notable reporting in 1896 when he travelled to Daimeny and interviewed Lord Rosebery, whose sudden resignation of the premiership had thrown politicians into a turmoil, and it has been said that with the possible exception of Joseph Pulitzer, no newspaper owner has written so extensively in his journals.

The Boer War brought the Daily Mail into greater prominence and also into the first of many conflicts with the authorities, for Harmsworth was bitter in his denunciation of governmental slackness and did his utmost to bring the seriousness of the situation before the public.

Northcliffe became a world figure during the recent war, particularly after he launched an attack on Lord Kitchener and the Asquith cabinet, on the broad ground that they had not seen and would not learn that the military methods used in the Soudan and South Africa would not do in the infinitey greater con-

U.S. Navy Airplane Drops Torpedoes

THE torpedo airplane is the latest development in offensive weapons in naval warfare. In future naval battles torpedo planes will be used for swift and deadly attacks on capital ships. Flying at from seventy-five to 100 miles an hour, they will deliver their attacks in mass formation, the mechanically controlled torpedo continuing its progress when dropped into the water. The Bureau of Aeronautics of the U. S. Navy is developing a new type torpedo airplane that will be the best of its kind in the world. Photograph shows one of the planes about to drop its charge.

AMERICAN MAIL DUE HERE TODAY ON "AUSTRALIA"

New Empress Ship Scheduled To Arrive Early This Morning

Mail from America is due today on the s.s. Empress of Australia, the newest of the Canadian Pacific Steamships' trans-Pacific liners, which was scheduled to drop anchor off Woosung at 3:30 o'clock this morning. The tender with incoming passengers is expected to reach the Customs Jetty about 9:30 o'clock this morning. Outgoing passengers will leave from the jetty at 10:30 o'clock. The vessel sails for Manila and Hongkong at 1:30 p.m.

Owing to the fact that the Australia left America behind her regular schedule, there will be no public inspection of the ship at Shanghai today. It is expected, however, that a public inspection similar to that arranged for the Empress of Canada on the occasion of her first call here, will be arranged when the Australia returns to Shanghai on her way back to America.

The next mail for America will be dispatched on the China Mail steamer Nanking, which is due here Thursday morning from Hongkong, and will dock at the China Merchants' Central or Lower Wharf. The Nanking sails Thursday afternoon for Japan ports, Honolulu and San Francisco.

The T.K.K. liner Shinyo Maru will sail for San Francisco by way of Japan ports and Honolulu on Friday.

Shipping Strike No Nearer Solution

There were no developments yesterday in the local shipping strike, as a result of which eighteen vessels of the China Merchants' Steam Navigation Company are tied up in port. It was rumored during the day that the San Peh Company had come to an agreement with the Seamen's Union, but it was later stated that since the managing director Mr. Yu Yah-ching is still in Ningpo the negotiations had not been completed.

The chief of the Admiralty Office here has notified the China Merchants' that their vessels, anchored off Kau Chong Miao, are causing an obstruction in the river and as a consequence the ships will probably be moved up to Peh Au Ching.

TYPHOON PASSES WITHOUT CAUSING DAMAGES HERE

Empress Of Australia Is Delayed In Arrival

Beyond delaying ships and causing considerable apprehension among the land and river population of the city the typhoon which threatened Shanghai over the week-end had no consequences here.

The storm, according to report from Siccawei yesterday, stuck the coast to the South of this port and circled westward and north-westward and last night was bulletined as approaching the Yangtsze between Chinkiang and Kiukiang. All during the day Sunday and Sunday night the city was swept by gusty blasts accompanied by some rain, but it fortunately escaped any great force of wind. During Sunday the river was clear of small craft and coast and ocean-going vessels delayed their sailings until the passing of the storm.

Evidence of the force of the typhoon in the area to the south of her is carried in the reports received yesterday that the Fairway Buoy light has been extinguished and that the Kiutoan lightship has been blown out of position and had its light extinguished.

The new Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia has been delayed on her maiden visit to this port by the storm. A wireless message received by the local offices of the company last night stated that owing to the extinguishing of the Fairway Buoy light the ship was lying to and would not get to Woosung this morning, as formerly expected. Instead, the Empress will reach Woosung at about 3:30 o'clock this afternoon. The tender with incoming passengers is expected to reach the Customs jetty at about 5:30 p.m. No definite sailing time has as yet been set for the trip to Manila and Hongkong.

The Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of Russia was delayed 36 hours by the storm and the President Lincoln was held in port ten hours longer than was scheduled. The President Grant, scheduled to sail for Seattle Saturday, did not leave until yesterday.

Thus far no reports of shipping casualties have reached Shanghai as a result of the last typhoon, beyond a despatch stating that a junk had been wrecked in Hangchow Bay with four lives lost.

Siccawei reports another typhoon in the Pacific near the Bonin Islands and travelling North, north-westward.

SWIMMING RACE

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 7.—A long distance swimming race was held yesterday by a party of swimming instructors attached to the Yokosuka Naval Port. They succeeded in crossing the Tokio Bay from Honmoku, near Yokohama, to Tsukishima, in Tokio, a distance of 18 miles, in less than nine hours.

RE-UNIFICATION PARLEY IS OPENED IN SHANGHAI, SUN ISSUES MANIFESTO

Representatives Of All Factions In North Are Here To Meet Southern President, Who Has Outlined A Program

SEES IMMEDIATE, LASTING PEACE

"When Parliament Functions Free And Unfettered By Any Faction, I Will Obey Its Decisions," Says Kuomingtang Chieftain

News dispatches reported a week ago that Dr. Sun Yat-sen was crushed and eliminated from the political arena, but through the simple expedient of coming back to Shanghai Doctor Sun, who arrived here yesterday on the Empress of Russia, has precipitated a wholly new situation from which it is within bounds of possibility he may emerge in another triumphant role.

Consequent upon Doctor Sun's return, and altogether unheralded by any preliminary announcements, what may prove to be the most important political gathering that has been held in Shanghai in years began to take form yesterday at a conference that was held three hours after Doctor Sun arrived. It took place at Doctor Sun's home on Rue Moliere. Preliminary plans of what is to be done then were drawn.

Only vague outlines of ambitious things being planned have yet been disclosed and even the identity of important characters at the political chess board here has not been revealed. Doctor Sun himself, worn from his experiences of recent months in the zone of strife near Canton, disillusioned, and with lines in his face that had not formed when he went south nearly two years ago, obviously is proceeding in a new enterprise with all caution and forethought. As outspoken as ever in the matter of broad principles and general aims the President of the Southern Republic, naturally enough, is maintaining complete silence concerning immediate details and concerning the shifting cogs of the political machine. But the conference that has brought Doctor Sun to Shanghai has a unique value, for it is known that at the discussions to be held will be represented every dominant element, military and political, in all China.

DENIES REPORTS

In the few brief utterances he was willing to make yesterday for publication Doctor Sun entirely discredited the reports of a week ago which told that on August 5 and 6 his forces had been defeated and routed. While several causes contributed to form his decision to come to Shanghai he admitted that the main reason was to meet here with party leaders and with the representatives of various factions that have come to confer with him.

Perhaps the most important subject dealt with yesterday at the preliminary conference at Doctor Sun's house was a discussion upon the question of making a formal public announcement of Doctor Sun's position. It was decided that this should be done and by reason of the decision Doctor Sun is to issue today a manifesto giving in outline a review of incidents of recent weeks in the south but in particular setting forth principles through which reunification of China must be brought about.

TERMS OF MANIFESTO

In the manifesto, the text of which is to be published tomorrow Doctor Sun will announce that he accepts as sincere the recent convocation of the Parliament at Peking. He said yesterday and it is to be set forth explicitly in his manifesto that when this Parliament actually comes into being and is permitted to function as a governing body unhampered and unfettered by any faction or interest he will obey its every decision. Thus, at a stroke, by pledging his subservience to a lawful Parliament functioning in accordance with constitutional requirements, Doctor Sun brings to an end the strife between the North and the South. His support is pledged to whatever choice the Parliament may see fit in naming a new President of a united China.

The manifesto as outlined will review the causes and the situation brought about by the revolt of Gen. Chen Chiun-ming. In the projects being worked out here the present situation at Canton is relegated by southern adherents to the position of a local outbreak to be dealt with in due course. One disclosure of the manifesto that deals with the defection of naval units, particularly with what is called treason of officers of the warcraft on which Doctor Sun lived tells that a plot had been hatched to bribe the gunners on the boat to direct a bombardment against Shameen and its foreign colony. This plot was one of the factors that strengthened Doctor Sun's decision to leave Canton.

THOSE IN PARTY

Dr. Sun is accompanied by Mr. Wang Ching-wei, the noted southern leader who joined him in Hongkong; Mr. Chen Chun, his secretary; Admiral Chen Chi commander of the Southern Navy and Mr. Tsiang Chun-chen, aide-de-camp of the Second Southern Army.

Strict precaution was taken by the International police to protect Dr. Sun at the Customs jetty where he was expected to land. More than 40 local organisations were represented at the

RED CROSS MEETS TODAY TO DISCUSS SWATOW RELIEF

Committee To Take Up Plans For Raising More Funds

There will be a meeting of the executive committee of the American Red Cross, China Central Committee, at noon today at the Union Club for the purpose of discussing further plans for the raising of funds to succor the typhoon victims in Swatow.

Contributions amounting to several hundred dollars were received yesterday through the American and Chinese Red Cross organisations and it is expected that considerably greater funds will be collected in the next few days.

The American Red Cross has not yet received a reply to its last wire to Swatow inquiring what form the relief shall take, but a reply is expected today. In the meanwhile names of doctors and nurses who have volunteered to go to the stricken port are being placed on record and a second relief unit will be ready to leave immediately the word is received.

LABOR DELEGATE

Tokio, Aug. 10.—The election of a Labor delegate to the forthcoming International Labor Conference resulted in the choice of Mr. Shinsui Kawai. Mr. Toyohiko Kagawa and Mr. Toshisuke Tasawa respectively received the next largest number of votes. More than 1,130,000 workers throughout the country voted.

wharf to extend a rousing welcome to the Southern statesman, including the Shanghai Seamen's Union, Society for the Maintenance of the Legal President, Cantonese Citizens' Association, the Amalgamated Street Unions, the War Participating Laborers' Union, the Shanghai Labor Union and the Printers' Union.

Among the individuals present were Mr. Sun Hung-yi, ex-Minister of Interior; Mr. George Hsu Chien, former Minister of Justice; Mr. Quo Tai-chi, former English Secretary to President Li Yuan-hung; Miss Hsiung Chun-han; Messrs. Wang Nai-chang and Wang Hsiang, parliamentarians and Japanese correspondents.

It was not until 11.30 o'clock that the crowd was told by Mr. Chang Chi, ex-speaker of the Senate who had rushed to the jetty from Moliere Road, that the Southern President had safely arrived at his residence. The crowd then thundered forth three rousing cheers and orderly dispersed.

A small party of local southern leaders, including Chang Chi, ex-speaker of the Senate; Yang Shu-kan, former Civil Governor of Szechuen and others, motored down Woosung at five o'clock yesterday morning. They boarded the launch, Ling Tau and managed to see Dr. Sun and his party on the Empress of Russia. Following a brief conversation, Dr. Sun boarded the launch with the local Kuomingtang leaders and landed at the jetty in front of the Chinese National Institute at Woosung Forts precisely at 10:30 o'clock.

Dr. Sun was in the best of his humor.

While admitting that the Southern Army had suffered several reverses, Dr. Sun maintained that these were acts of military necessity and felt confident that the Southern army would still be able to smash up the forces of Chen Chiung-ming.

Dr. Sun stated that there are certain intrigues being planned by his enemy which would not only endanger his personal safety but would make use of the Settlement in Canton as a battlefield, thereby causing the powers to protest against the action and hurting the Southern cause.

Japan Reaffirms Her Non-interference Policy Toward China

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 14.—Japan's attitude of non-interference in Chinese domestic affairs in respect of her sovereignty has been officially reaffirmed; until China has established a unified Government representing the will of the people, Japan considers it inappropriate and premature to give financial aid to China, which, if done, would not only violate the principles of foreign policy already laid down in the purposes of the Washington Nine-Power Treaty, but would hinder tendencies in China towards better conditions and real unification.

Foreign Woman Is Cholera Victim

While making a purchase at Messrs. Hall & Holtz' store on Nanking Road yesterday, Mrs. Mundane, 104 Yangtszepoo Road, suddenly collapsed and an ambulance call was sent in to the police. The officers responding rushed the sufferer to the General Hospital, where she was attended by Dr. J. B. Fearn. The case was diagnosed as cholera and the victim was removed to the Isolation Hospital, where it was stated that her condition was grave.

ARTHUR GRIFFITH, IRISH LEADER, IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Dublin Shocked By Sudden Passing Of Statesman

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 11.—The Irish leader Mr. Arthur Grimth died today of heart failure.

The suddenness of Mr. Arthur Griffiths death shocked Dublin, where it occurred, no less than London where it was not known that he was ill. He was seized with influenza ten days ago and there were some complications but apparently he recovered. He visited his office yesterday and left early. Later he was removed to hospital and died there of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Lloyd George, on behalf of the Cabinet, telegraphed to Mr. Michael Collins extolling Mr. Griffiths' patriotic qualities and his sincerity and courage, adding that his loss was a heavy one for Ireland.

The Prime Minister paid a further tribute to the deceased in a telegram of condolence to his widow.

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 12.—A later account of the death of Mr. Arthur Griffith from Dublin says that after eating a hearty breakfast he was on the staircase of the hospital where he had recently been treated for tonsilitis, about to proceed to his office. He bent over presumably to tie his bootlace when suddenly emitting a low groan he fell forward.

Mr. Griffith regained consciousness a minute later for about 20 seconds. A priest was brought immediately and administered the Last Sacrament but had scarcely uttered the last word when Mr. Griffith died.

It seems to be generally assumed that death was the result of the great strain which the events imposed. There are many signs of mourning in Dublin fliet that had broken over Europe.

ATTACKED ON ALL SIDES

This, of course, was heresy, and for a time it appeared to be Northcliffe—or England. The circulation of his papers fell away, and from every editorial chair, every pulpit, and every government office he was bitterly, viciously assailed.

But the square jawed publisher stuck to his guns. He knew that the English Tommies in Flahders were being swept off their feet by the German hordes solely for the reason that they didn't have the proper guns, or the proper ammunition. The London war office persisted in accepting the reports of generals who were steeped in the Kitchener traditions, and who moved and had their being under the Kitchener thumb. Northcliffe chose to form his opinions from the stories of wounded British Tommies, who, to a man, attributed the old Lion's reverses in those bitter early days to the lack of weapons.

Gradually, Northcliffe made the nation see the truth, bitter as it was, and believing that there was but one man in the Empire capable of carrying the British burden, he insisted upon that man's transfer from the ministry of munitions to the Premiership itself. The man he wanted for that hardest of jobs that ever fell on an Englishman's shoulders was the present prime minister, David Lloyd George, who not only vindicated the great publisher's judgment, but who will live in history as one of the two or three great figures developed by the war.

Following the death of Kitchener and the overthrow of the Asquith cabinet, and with Lloyd George at the helm, England and the allies swept on to final triumph.

Following the armistice there were rumors of difference between Northcliffe and the premier whom he, more than all others together, had been instrumental in elevating to the highest office in England, but these differences, whatever they were, probably were inconsequential, for the Northcliffe press, except on certain local issues, has been generally on the side of the premier.

After the close of the war Northcliffe set out for a tour of the world, visiting, in order, the United States and Canada, Japan, China, the Philippines, Malay Free States, India, and Europe. In all these countries he was entertained lavishly.

Lord Northcliffe was an uncompromising foe of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, holding that this pact constituted a constant menace to Anglo-American friendship, which, next to winning the world war, was the great dream of his later life.

In The U. S. Court For China

Following the hearing of testimony of one witness for the prosecution and another for the defense, the trial of P. R. Moore, who is charged with adultery in the U. S. Court for China, was continued until next Monday morning by Judge Charles S. Lobingier yesterday.

Yesterday's witnesses were Nicholas Keramotis, who accompanied Dudley E. Swinehart when he raided the room in Bickerton's Private Hotel occupied by Mrs. Swinehart and found Moore in her company, and Mrs. Tegetmeier, who resided in the same house with the Swineharts and Moore early this year.

Keramotis substantiated the history told by Mr. Swinehart, under direct examination by U. S. District Attorney Leonard G. Husar, who is prosecuting. On cross-examination by Mr. F. J. Schuhl, attorney for Moore, he refused to answer several questions referring to his earlier career in Shanghai and elsewhere. At present, he operates a saloon in Chefoo.

Mrs. Tegetmeier, who now lives on Seymour Road, testified that during the three months she had lived with the Swineharts, he had noticed nothing unbecoming in Mrs. Swinehart's conduct.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefully and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talcum powder. (Advt.)

Belated Report At Swatow Increase Damage Totals

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hongkong, August 14.—The Chartered Bank of India, Australia and China has donated $5,000 to the Swatow Relief Fund.

Hongkong, Aug. 9.—Further reports are being received in Hongkong regarding the destruction at Swatow and neighboring towns as a result of the great typhoon. Various branches in Swatow of firms in Hongkong have sent reports to the local offices, but so appalling are these that it is difficult to give full credence to them.

According to a letter received from the office of the Asiatic Petroleum Co., three more towns are reported wiped out. These are Chow Yang, with a population of approximately 50,000, Ching Hai with a similar sized population, and Tang Ling. In addition, Kua Swa, with a population of about 10,000, is reported to be devastated, and Chau Chow, a town situated about 28 miles along the railway, near the river, is known to have suffered, though to what extent is not stated. Thus, with An Po, a few miles inland from Swatow, whose destruction was reported Monday there are at least six towns of various sizes outside of Swatow which are known to have suffered severely from the typhoon or the tidal wave.

The chief local firms with branches in Swatow are as follow: Messrs. Jardine, Matheson & Co., Messrs. Butterfield & Swire, The Asiatic Petroleum Co., The Standard Oil Company of New York, Messrs. Bradley & Co., Messrs. W. G. Humphreys & Co., Messrs. Alex Ross & Co., and the British American Tobacco Co.

Officials of each of these companies stated that their premises in Swatow had received more or less damage but that the extent of it would not be known until official reports had been received. At present it is impossible even to vaguely estimate the damage done.

According to private advices received from a Socony source, there is no building in Swatow, with the solitary exception of the Catholic Mission, which has escaped damage. This building is constructed of reinforced concrete. The letter adds that all the compound walls in the city are down and that the streets are completely blocked by stranded junks and various types of small boats, fallen trees, telegraph poles and other debris.

When the police station on Kialat Road collapsed there were several native policemen inside, as well as a large number of natives who had taken refuge. All of these are believed to have been killed.

On Massu Island, at the entrance to the harbor, a number of people took refuge in a concrete building that had recently been erected. They remained inside during the typhoon, and though the roof was blown off they escaped unharmed.

Among the many distressing cases that are reported is that of an old lady, grandmother of a well-known Hongkong resident. She remained within her house right through the typhoon. The roof of the building collapsed and though she was subsequently rescued uninjured it was seen that the shock had affected her mentally. Her memory of the terrible affair has completely left her.

Confirmation of yesterday's report regarding the natives unwillingness to bury their dead unless enclosed in coffins has been received in a letter to a local firm which states that the foreshore is stacked with decaying bodies but no apparent attempts are being made to bury them.

The only motor boat in Swatow reported to have been saved is that belonging to the Asiatic Petroleum Company.

INLAND TOWNS ADD TO ROLL

The opinion is expressed that it will be several days before anything like an approximate estimate can be given of the actual damage. Towns well inland which are known to have been affected have not yet been visited by Europeans. When reports from these places come in there is little doubt but that they will considerably add to the gruesome accounts already received.

As far as can at present be determined, the railway line between Swatow and Chau Chow has not been damaged.

Word has been received in Hongkong from an officer aboard the s.s. Prometheus, which was in Swatow during the typhoon, that great difficulty has been encountered in collecting the bodies from the debris. Some bodies have been tied to telegraph poles to prevent them from floating down to the sea.

Little damage was done to the Prometheus. The gale was responsible for some of the deck fittings, hatches etc., being broken. The cable parting, the ship went ashore on a mud bank, but she was able to get off the following day. She left for Bangkok on Saturday.

PEOPLE LOOT RICE SHOPS

The Man Shing Yat Po of the 7th inst. has just arrived from Swatow. It states that as a result of the typhoon the people are now faced with a shortage of foodstuffs. On Sunday two rice shops were looted by the people and were forced to close their doors to avoid further trouble.

Rice merchants have started profiteering. The Bureau of Public Safety has issued a proclamation warning the rice merchants against exacting exorbitant prices. The Bureau insists that rice merchants display a spirit of fairness, especially at the present serious crisis.

According to the Man Shing Yat Po fireman and the police have been busy during the last few days in pulling down dangerous buildings and the general cleaning up of the public thoroughfares so as to accelerate the restoration of communications.

The various charitable institutions have started relief work in earnest and stations have been established at various parts of the town, where free congee is distributed.

The Man Shing Yat Po reports a robbery on a sampan which resulted in the death of five or six of the passengers. It was stated that owing to the entire stoppage of steamer traffic a party of 20 to 30 men attempted to leave Swatow for Chiu Yeung. During the voyage several robbers, who masqueraded as passengers, attempted to rob the other passengers. During the struggle the sampan capsized and a number of the men were drowned.

Shantung Envoys Talk Old Issues

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 14.—At the fourteenth meeting of the First Section of the Sino-Japanese Commission this morning the Japanese commissioners tabled an inventory of additions and improvements to wharves and warehouses, the total of which, ommitting depreciation, is as follows:

	Yen
Wharves, including warehouses	884,911
Harbor works	1,330,792

After a detailed statement from Dr. Akiyama, the Commission decided to refer the matter to the sub-committee on public properties for study and investigation.

The Chinese replied to the Japanese proposals regarding telephone and wireless stations to the effect that there was no necessity for arriving at any special arrangement regarding the use of the Japanese language by telephone operators but that for the convenience of subscribers some operators understanding Japanese might be employed temporarily.

The Chinese did not object to the opening of the Tsingtao and Tsinanfu wireless stations for public use but did not agree to use the Kana alphabet.

The subcommittee on Posts and Telegraphs is constituted as follows: China, Messrs. Kung Hsiang-hsi, Chung Ao, Lu Chia-nai and Chang Chao-fen; Japan, Messrs. Yano, Making, Yoshida and Koga.

AUTHORISE SALE OF FLOWER SHOP; PRICE IS $42,000

Shareholders Accept Bid Without Discussion At Meeting Yesterday

The British Flower Shop, which came into being during the War and has operated with such success as to show a profit of $29,000, was authorised for sale as a going concern at an extraordinary general meeting of shareholders held yesterday afternoon.

The shop is to be sold to Captain Markham at the sale figure of $42,000, the highest bid received following the decision of the annual general meeting to place the establishment on the market.

The meeting yesterday, held in the offices of Messrs. Scott, Harding and Co., was presided over by Mr. W. H. Barham, the other directors present being Messrs. J. C. Bousstow, H. W. Lester and D. McNeill, with other shareholders attending.

There was but little discussion following the chairman's speech, which was as follows:

"At the last annual general meeting on June 29 I intimated that the company would be willing to sell the business as a going concern, giving the reasons for such decision. Our auditors and projected liquidators, Messrs. G. H. and N. Thomson, were asked to prepare conditions, examine the offers and recommend to the directors the offer which in their opinion should be accepted. Several bids were made and the auditors saw their way clear to recommend us to accept the highest, viz., $42,000 from Captain Markham, who undertakes to comply with the conditions that were named. In the opinion of the board this is an offer which the shareholders should accept, and I trust therefore you will support the following resolution which I now propose and which will be seconded by Mr. Lester.

"I only wish to add that no one at present connected with the direction of the Flower Shop has any interest in the new proposition.

"Resolution: 'That the directors be and they are hereby authorised to sell, as a going concern, the whole of the goodwill, land, buildings, stock, furniture and fittings of the company and to dispose of the proceeds, after allowing a sufficient sum to repay the capital and meet all liabilities and the expenses of winding up the company, in such manner as the shareholders shall by ordinary resolution direct.'

"After the land has been transferred it will be necessary to call another meeting to appoint liquidators and decide in regard to disposal of funds, but the passing of this resolution is all that is necessary for today's meeting, and I thank you for your attendance."

In response to a query as to the terms of sale, the chairman stated that these called for a deposit of $10,000, with the balance to be paid at the time of transfer. He also read over the terms submitted to bidders, which called for ownership by one of British nationality, certain right of way stipulations with regard to the property, and a penalty of $5,000 for transfer to non-British capitalisation within five years of the time of transfer.

There being no further discussion the resolution was passed.

Locals Lost Sunday Game On Bad Luck In Hitting; Hopeful Today

Shanghai meet Fort Mills this afternoon commencing at 4:45 o'clock at the Ball Park, and if dressing room practice and bench gossip counts for anything the local team is certain to win, in spite of their two successive defeats by the visiting nine.

Alibis of course are out of order, but then the fact really does remain that Shanghai has been far and away off its game since the champions of the Philippines arrived here last week end. A flock of unexpected errors on Saturday and a lot of hard luck in driving healthy bingles into every Fort Mill's man's hands on Sunday, when extra base hits should have resulted, were responsible.

Shanghai, with two defeats behind it, is out to win today, and regardless of breaks, and everything else there is a good chance that the score board will find Gallopa nine nursing a win before nightfall. The first two games have been lost, local players are determined to win today.

It is not known yet who will do the hurling for either side today. Kingman is nursing an arm a little sore from Saturday's trial. Scott worked Sunday. It may develop that Scott will find himself in shape to pitch again this afternoon, which with Kingman on first and Cy Wilhoit filling in elsewhere Shanghai should have a strong lineup. Should Scott however not find that he can pitch, Doc Swann might take up the task of stopping the soldiers, or maybe even Maloney, in spite of his bad leg, or Hopkins might pitch.

The score from Sunday's game follows:

Chinese Beat Filipino Team

High class pitching on the part of Tyau, former St. John's star, with good support by the fielders, especially from Jacob Young, shortstop, also formerly of St. John's, won the game for the Chinese Athletic Club nine Sunday morning from the All-Star Filipino team on the Nanyang ground.

Tyau fanned about a dozen men and allowed four hits to the Filipinos. The score was 8-2.

The Filipinos got a bad start. Bonita, the Filipino pitcher, walked two and allowed four hits in the first two innings, letting the Chinese score six runs. He tightened, however, after that, and the opposition scored only two more runs. The Filipinos made many errors.

Tyau, with speed, curves, and everything that is required for a pitcher, held the Filipinos scoreless until the sixth, when they tallied their first run. The Filipinos scored with another in the eight. With K. S. Chang behind the bat, Tyau is pitching great ball. A return game will probably be played next Sunday between the same teams.

Z. SHIMIDZU OR RICHARDS RANK TO PLAY TILDEN

New York, August 13.—Two Japanese, Zenzo Shimidzu and Kashio, are in the semi-finals of the American national tennis tourney which will decide who is to challenge William Tilden for the American title.

Kashio must play Vincent Richards, looked upon as Tilden's logical challenger and who was beaten in three straight sets by the champion at Long Island three weeks ago. Shimidzu meets Robert Kinsey, the San Francisco crack, who came through to the semi-final by defeating Francis Hunter, the New York National indoor champion in a great match, 6-3 4-6, and 6-4.

Shimidzu defeated Leonard Beekman, the ex-Princeton star, in straight sets, 7-5 and 6-1 while Richards defeated Howard Kinsey, brother to Bob, 6-2 and 7-5.

Shimidzu and Richards are figured to oppose one another in the final, the winner to meet Tilden.

Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts, August 11.—France and Australia battled yesterday today in the Davis Cup tournament.

Henri Cochet of France defeated Pat O'Hara Wood in a terrific match. The score was 6-4, 3-6, 6-0, 7-9, and 6-4.

Gerald Patterson, the Australian captain, evened up matters by winning his match against his French opponent, Andre Gobert. The score was 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4, and 6-3. Patterson came through brilliantly after losing the first two games.

(Reuter's Service)

Boston, August 13.—Owing to rain the remaining Davis Cup singles have been postponed until August 14, fortunately for the Australians, as Patterson has sprained his ankle and O'Hara Wood is suffering from neuritis.

Sheldon And Wade, Dawson And Roberts To Play For Men's Doubles Title Today

Most Popular Tennis Final Expected To Be Dashing Spectacular Fight

V. Sheldon and J. L. Wade and W. P. Roberts and C. S. Dawson will meet this afternoon commencing at four o'clock on the Cricket Club courts in what should be the most dashing and spectacular final for the Men's Doubles champions that the Shanghai Lawn Tennis Association has ever staged. The two pairs have come through several trying rounds of play against the best net men that have ever played in the local association; they are all at the top of their form; they play almost the same fashion of game—a driving, smashing attack with a rushing defense to the net for rousing fore-court rallies. Shanghai tennis enthusiasts should get a glimpse of really first class play when the two pairs meet today.

The match has an added interest in that a new pair of champions is to be set down on the records today. Sheldon's and Wade's spectacular defeat of the title holders, Toussaint and Carnavarro on the same courts last Friday eliminated the possibility of the cup being permanently won by the holders. Toussaint and Carnavarro had taken the doubles honors for the past two succeeding years. Their defeat Friday saved the cup for the association. It also assured new doubles champions for 1922, either Sheldon and Wade or Roberts and Dawson.

Throughout the early rounds of the play and in the semi finals either pair has played almost an identical style of game. They have always attacked and welcomed a speedy return; they have never lobbed or stalled in hope that the other side might give them a point. They all have

American Born Japanese Refuse To Serve Mikado

Honolulu, T. H., August 10.—Breaking precedents of long standing by openly and defiantly refusing to obey an army conscription summons issued by the Japanese Government, two American born Japanese living on the Island of Kauai have declared themselves to be American citizens and not subject to orders of the Japanese Government, according to a story published in Kauai Shimpo, a Japanese-language paper, of the district in which the two Japanese live.

The conscription summons was served on the two Japanese by a Buddhist priest, acting as agent for the Japanese Consulate at Honolulu. One of the men told the priest that he was "an American citizen and not subject to serve in the Japanese army." The other simply tore up the summons.

The incident is looked upon as significant of the attitude being taken by the younger generation of Japanese in the islands, who are thought to be drifting away from the influence of their Government owing to Americanising influences with which they are surrounded.

Houseboy Jailed For Smashing Car

A houseboy in the employ of Mr. Atkinson of 61 Seymour Road was sentenced to three months' imprisonment by British Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Yui in the Mixed Court yesterday. Mr. Atkinson said that on Saturday he had found when he went to the garage that his small electric car had been smashed, having ostensibly been taken out of the garage without permission the previous night.

Inquiry revealed that the houseboy was to blame for the mishap. He admitted tinkering with the car, but said that it was his custom each night to remove a plug. Friday night, he said, he removed the wrong plug, and the car bolted out of the garage and smashed into the wall. Mr. Atkinson, however, declared that the car could not be started unless someone were in the driver's seat. In passing sentence, the court indicated that a reduction of sentence would be given in the boy made good the damage done. This was estimated at 140 taels.

Men's Doubles Tennis Final Today

forced the play with the idea of earning their points rather than benefiting by errors. Today's match should be a wonderful test of accurate aggressiveness, and of tennis stamina.

Roberts is playing his strongest game. His play with Dawson against that strong pair Parbury and George, which went to eight sets covering two days entitle him to first rank among Shanghai doubles players. Dawson appeared to suffer from nervousness in his first sets, but soon settled down to a game that held its own with his veteran partner.

Sheldon's wonderful serving and overhead play and Wade's brilliancy in scoring smashing and killing points for his side, together with the pairs' great activity and strength are factors that will count heavily for their side. They tired and broke Toussaint and his partner down in forcing the more careful, hopeful tactics of the champions. It will be interesting to watch them this afternoon against a pair that will not only play up to them, but even will play with the idea of pushing the speed for points.

Sheldon and Wade each have shared in the doubles title before. Wade in 1916 won the honor with the Japanese S. Kashio, who is now playing in the Davis Cup challenge rounds in America for the semi final honors. Sheldon in 1919 was paired with W. S. A. Pott when he took the trophy.

The public is invited to attend the match this afternoon. A special court will be arranged in front of the big pavillion at the Cricket Club and Mr. Noel Ramsey is making every possible arrangement to accommodate the big crowd expected to attend.

"THE SECRET OF SUCCESS"

Many people are looking for it in vain. In the Aerated Water business, it is easy to find, and may be expressed in one word "QUALITY." If the quality is not right, all your other efforts are wasted. For that reason we buy everything used in the preparation of our Aerated Waters of the best quality only, and we invite an inspection of our books to prove it.

Another point with us, of equal importance, is that everything in connection with the preparation of our Aerated Waters is

"ABOVE BOARD"

We do not want to shut ourselves in within a high wall while working, and we have no secrets. If you care to visit our factory at any time, we shall be pleased to show and explain everything to you. It will surprise you to see the infinite care taken to ensure the purity of our Waters.

Support the officers of the Health Dept. by seeing for yourself as well.

U. S. Expert On Nut Culture Making Survey In China

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 11.—That the United States Government is waking up to the need of knowing more about its markets in China and the sources of things imported from China, is indicated by the presence of a representative from the United States Department of Agriculture in Peking. Mr. C. A. Reed is here from the Bureau of Plant Industry—he is Chief Investigator of the nut industry in America.

He is working in conjunction with Mr. Chamberlain of the Agricultural Department of Yen Ching University. They point out that the consumption of walnuts in America has increased tremendously because of the advertising campaign waged by the California growers. This naturally helps the importers of walnuts from China.

The Chinese had paid no attention to the possibilities of developing a walnut export trade until 1911 when several firms secured contracts for exporting them. From that time on the growth has been rapid as is shown by the following figures.

EXPORTS SHOW GROWTH

The walnut kernels exported from Tientsin for the various years are:

1913	531 piculs
1917	8,599 piculs
1921	41,267 piculs

The chief markets found for these nuts are America, British India and Japan. Of the export of walnut kernels for 1921 America received some 2,185,947 pounds out of the 3,315,000 total. In 1920 China shipped 2,615,000 pounds of walnuts in the shell, of which the United States took 791,000 pounds.

Consequently a survey of the production centers in China will be of keen interest to the American consumers. Mr. Reed is planning an inspection trip into the production centers, which are Chihli, Honan, Shansi, and Shantung. He will study the varieties, methods of cultivation, altitude and soil conditions. He is also on the lookout for new varieties.

In the investigations thus far carried on, many interesting points have come to light. The commonest way of growing walnuts was found to be in groves but in places there are isolated trees. Most of these trees are old plantings, having been put in by the grandfathers of the present owners.

TREES 200 YEARS OLD

Although the number of nuts exported have greatly increased, the number grown has decreased rather than increased. This is due mostly to the fact that few new trees are being set out. The investigators were shown one tree which was claimed to be 270 years old and they have come across many which they actually think are over 200 years.

Tientsin is the export center for North China. One of the commonest complaints received from America is that the Chinese exporter ships his nuts when they are green so that by the time they reach America they have shriveled up and are valueless. There are three grades of nuts shipped from China. The first is known as the double shell walnut. This variety has two distinct shells in addition to the green outer husk. It brings the lowest price because of the difficult in extracting the kernel. The next kind is the medium shell, which makes up the bulk of the nuts grown in China. These shells vary greatly in degree of hardness. The third variety is the paper shell. There are only two known districts in China that produces these paper shells. They are Changli and Chang Ping Chow, both in Chihli Province.

Mr. Reed is confident that he will be able to secure valuable material in the way of data, both for the American grower and importer.

Major's Story Of Shooting Doubted

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 12.—Major Neilson, former Chief Intelligence Officer of the R.I.C., is in hospital suffering from bullet wounds inflicted by a gunman believed to be Irish who tracked him down to Devonshire.

The Major was found in a lonely spot near Ashburton where he was taking a holiday. Major Neilson recently received threatening anonymous letters connected with Irish incidents.

London, August 13.—The story of the shooting of Major Neilson has been discredited. Inquiries in official circles fail to establish the Major to be in any way connected with any Irish Department. The police are reticent.

It transpires that the villagers of Ashburton and the neighborhood did not hear the shots and that gun shots did not cause Major Neilson's injuries.

It is now stated that the Major reached a cottage with his arm bleeding and the letters I.R.A. scratched on his chest and told a circumstantial story of an attack.

Indians Welcome Liberated Leader

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 13.—The non-co-operation leader, C. R. Das, who was sentenced to six months imprisonment on February 15 was released from jail yesterday and congratulated at a large open air meeting of Indians at which he was presented with an address.

Hoover Arraigns Contractor Crooks

(China Press Service)

Chicago, August 13.—Secretary Hoover, in an address here told the Federation of Construction Industries that the practices of a small minority of the construction industries are unendurable and must be cleaned up.

"Repeated exposures of the underhand practices of these men and these concerns has sickened the public during the last year," Secretary Hoover declared.

BIG DIRIGIBLE

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 12.—A giant dirigible is being constructed at Philadelphia capable of crossing the Atlantic and returning without descending.

Supplied by All Chemists.

Physicians prescribe Chamberlain's Colic and diarrhoea Remedy because it relieves cramps in the stomach and intestinal pains quicker than any preparation they can compound. It can be bought from any chemist. A bottle will last for years, and no home is complete without it.

Sold everywhere.

Germans Ordered To Leave Alsace

(Reuter's Service)

London, August 12.—Reuter learns that the French coercive measures as regards Alsace-Lorraine consist of an order forbidding Germans to withdraw their bank deposits and the expulsion of 500 "undesirable" Germans, especially those who have not availed themselves of the opportunity afforded by the Treaty of Versailles to become French subjects.

The first measure proved ineffective as cautious depositors had previously completed their withdrawals. The expulsions are timed to start at midnight tonight.

Berlin, August 12.—The expelled Germans from Alsace-Lorraine will be allowed to take handbaggage. Families will be allowed to have 10,000 marks and single persons 5,000 marks.

A further 500 expulsions are heralded if the French demands are not complied with.

The German press is furious and describes the expulsions as barbarous and brutal besides being ineffectual. The Lokalanzeiger suggests reprisal by the expulsion of French subjects from Germany.

Foreign Ministers Make Calls On Koo

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 11.—The Foreign Ministers in Peking made official calls individually on Dr. Wellington Koo on Wednesday. Senhor de Freitas, Doyen of the Diplomatic Body, has since returned to Peking from Peitaiho and will call on Dr. Koo this afternoon.

Lawyers In Favor Of Taft's Scheme To Speed Up Courts

(China Press Service)

San Francisco, August 13.—The American Bar Association in session here has passed a resolution endorsing Chief Justice of the Supreme Court Taft's recommendation that plans referring to legal procedure in the United States be worked out by a commission composed of two judges each from the United States Supreme Court, the Federal Circuit Courts, Federal District Courts, and three of the leading American practicing attorneys.

Vice-President Calvin Coolidge, in addressing the convention, declared that "the time has come to supplement the laws of appeal with the spirit of the times."

Justice Taft declared that failure of justice was due to the withholding of power from judges. Judges should be given power commensurate with their responsibility, Justice Taft asserted.

(China Press Service)

San Francisco, August 12.—The Bar Association passed resolutions denouncing the proposed legislation empowering congress to reenact any law constitutional by the Supreme Court. John W. Davis, exambassador to great Britain was elected president.

Lewis Says Strike Is 100 Percent Effective

(China Press Service)

Washington, August 13.—President Lewis of the United Mine Workers, after receiving numerous reports on the progress of the coal miners strike from all sections of the country, issued a statement in which he asserted that the strike was 100 percent effective in all union districts.

Reports from non-union districts were incomplete, he said, but warranted a statement that the strike was at least 50 percent effective among non-union workers.

Bavaria Back In German Fold Again

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, August 12.—The dispute between the Central and Bavarian Governments has been settled by a compromise.

The latter has agreed to withdraw the ordinance against the Central Government's laws for the defense of the Republic, while the Central Government agrees to respect Bavaria's special sovereign rights in the execution of such laws.

The Cost Of Strikes

A MILLION and a quarter to a million and a half of wage earners are on strike in the United States, comments the New York Herald of July 12. They are in the main of the most highly paid crafts in the world. The majority of them have had an earning power, even during industrial depression, of from $35 to $45 a week. The other skilled workers now on strike have fallen somewhat short of such earnings only because general business was slack. And just when business had got well started again, when it was picking up speed, those high pay craftsmen took themselves out of work with their strikes.

Taken all together the earning power of those 1,250,000 to 1,500,000 striking workers, their earning power for themselves, could be averaging now if they were not on strike but were at work, scarcely less than $6 a working day. But if it were $5, see what it means as measured in terms of wage earnings alone. It means not less than $6,000,000 every working day, perhaps more than $7,500,000.

And if you take it at $7,000,000 a day it means at the rate of more than two billions of dollars a year. A two billion dollar a year earning power for the workers themselves stopped dead short. A two billion dollar a year spending power in the domestic markets abruptly relaxed.

But that is not all. The industrial production and the industrial service of those striking wage earners are in part lost to the economic energy and the business building of the country. This secondary loss, this loss to the whole country, may equal now, and in time it might surpass, the direct primary loss to the striking wage earners. If it is no greater than the immediate loss to the strikers, the two together would range between $12,000,000 and $15,000,000 a day! The figures are in gold dollars.

This is an industrial loss, a financial cost, an economic wastage that no war on the face of the earth ever reached, ever approximated, until virtually the whole world went into the recent war, which wrecked the economic stability and all but paralysed the industrial powers of the Old World.

Strikes that cost more than any war ever cost, except the one incomparable war, are destructive forces to be well pondered and carefully discussed before men get into them as well as after they have gone into them.

Strikes costing at the rate of fifteen millions of dollars a day! Can they be worth it?

TRAM TRIBULATIONS

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS.

Sir: The statements of your correspondent "American" are well-founded. No one can deny that the motor-men and conductors on the trams of the International Settlement of Shanghai are in the habit of starting the cars while the passengers are getting on or off. So long as the company permits its employes to behave in this manner, it is very difficult, if not impossible, for passengers to adhere to the advice, "Always wait till the car stops." That the governing body of the Settlement is aware of this dangerous practice of the tram employes, is obvious: yet that body apparently does nothing. Yours truly,

S. A. FETY.

THE RICSHA MEN

Editor: THE CHINA PRESS

Sir: Some one should second the motion so ably made by Mr. W. Bruce Lockhart to the Press. Permit me then to quote with my hearty approval the following words:

"The conditions under which the Ricsha men toil and struggle are pitiable to a degree, and it is the duty of intelligent and more fortunate men to do what they can to alleviate their lot and reduce their miseries. . . . The time has come to say that the wealthy community of Shanghai must cleanse its streets and byways of these starving, haggard, harried and persecuted masses of men who toil tremendously, who are the servants of all, in foul weather and in fair—men, who, because of their ignorance and their weakness are treated as pariahs."

I trust that the plea for a Commission will meet with a ready response. Meanwhile, I take it, suggestions and continued agitation are not only in order but exceedingly desirable. The aggregate sums of money that pass through the hands of the ricsha coolies in Shanghai is a startling amount. The following figures cannot be far wrong:

1. License fees (as per Mr. Lockhart's)	$314,000
2. Paid to owners of ricshas	$6,000,000
3. Paid to middle men	$2,000,000
4. Wages of ricsha coolies	$10,000,000
Total	$18,314,000

The way these figures are arrived at is as follows: I understand that there are some 30,000 ricshas in Shanghai. If each ricsha pays 75 cents small money per day, the amount will be considerable over $200 per year; which makes $6,000,000 for 30,000 ricshas. Then it is generally agreed that the middle men get about one-third again as much; this may of course vary some, but if correct would make up another $2,000,000. Then there are said to be four coolies for each ricsha, and I take it that each coolie earns not more than 25 cents (big money) per day on an average. It is probably less, but that will make my argument stronger. For the present I accept one-fourth of a dollar as the wages the ricsha coolie gets, in addition to the amount he has to pay for the hire of his ricsha The latter amount is said to be about 10 dimes or so.

It will be seen that all of the above large amount of money has to pass through the ricsha coolies' hands. Now I think that none of us who have occasion to use ricshas would want that sum total reduced, seeing that we are agreed that the ricsha is a fairly cheap mode of conveyance. What we are interested in is to redistribute these gross takings somewhat more equitably. It will be clear that whatever we reduce on the first three items will come directly into the poor ricsha coolies' pockets, for the amounts paid by the public will not become lessened thereby.

As to the first item, I wish very much that the Commission would take into earnest consideration whether that could not be considerably reduced. Remember that this large amount of money is almost a clear profit to the Municipality, and therefore to the public; that is, ourselves. For a ricsha does not wear out the road as a motor car, or other vehicle does. Are we not willing to give up a part of this profit, which is obtained by the sweat of these poor brothers of ours?

It is said that the amount paid to the owners of ricshas is exorbitant. I am much inclined to think that it is—$220 per annum receipts for a vehicle that costs $100 to make. Still, this is a matter that will bear investigation, and perhaps the profits will not be as big as they look. In any case what is there to hinder some of us going into the business, for the sake of profit, or better, of philanthropy? Just as houses and tenements are being built these days with enough earnings on investments, say 6 percent, to invite capital, and which will in a manner offset the profiteering of other capitalists. Would Mr. Lockhart be willing to start a Joint Stock company, which perhaps would rent ricshas to coolies for a considerably less amount? I should be willing to take shares in the concern. If the amount paid to the owners could be lessened by even as little as twelve cents, each of the four coolies would have an increase of 30 percent in their wages.

If such a company were formed, would it not be possible to arrange the renting of ricshas to coolies without such a large amount going to middle men? This part of the business would be difficult to handle, but thought should be given to the matter.

Let us do something. I am, etc.,

HENRY HUIZINGA.

UNCOVERING THE RICSHA COOLIES' CASE

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: Permit me to congratulate you for the interesting story uncovering the ricsha coolies' case that appeared in your paper dated August 8, and also the humane piece of literature written by Mr. W. Bruce Lockhart in the form of a letter printed in your editorial column on August 9 dealing with same. Indeed both of you are doing a great service to the community by making known to us this wonderful story.

Your spirit of justice and fair mindedness in dealing with this matter are deeply appreciated by us Chinese, and we hope this city will soon get rid of this system of slavery through your noble and untiring efforts. Repectfully yours,

Y. M. LIM.

Priest Aids Stabilisation Of Italy

Don Luigi Sturzo, Popolare Deputy And Militant Leader Of His Party, Has Succeeded In Reorganising Clericals And Making Them A Power In Politics

BY CLARA WOLD

An amazing figure in Italian politics is Don Luigi Sturzo, priest, Popolare deputy and directing leader of his party.

I was pepared to meet a man radiating energy—a man who would brusquely receive me, make a brief statement of party principles and dismiss me, for I had heard from everyone that Don Sturzo is the busiest political leader in Italy. He is, in fact, the man who reorganised the old Clerical party—a party that for generations had been looked upon by good Romans as an enemy to Italian people because of the ancient fight between the Papal power and the struggle for a united Italian nation. From a somewhat insignificant group of old-time leaders the party was rescued under the leadership of Don Sturzo, a priest who had won literary fame in Italy and who had been able under most trying times to deal with the demands of industrial workers in whatever part of Italy he was working.

Don Sturzo is recognised as a liberal thinker. It was because of his readiness to grasp new situations that he was able to rejuvenate and revolutionise the clerical party, so that it now is the second in control in Parliament, the Socialists having a few more deputies.

"HE IS A FIGHTER"

"He carries all the party programs in his head; all the orders come from him; the Catholic syndicates are under his control; he is never idle. And finally, he is a Sicilian and a fighter," one Italian told me.

Turning these remarks over in my mind, I entered the spacious office of Don Sturzo. A short man, slightly bent in his shoulders and dressed in priest's robes, met me half way across the room, coming upon me so swiftly that I felt he had already read my entire personality with his piercing, deepset eyes before I had more than realised he was there. The deep lines about his mouth and nose deepened still more as he greeted me with a spreading smile.

He sat down behind his long desk, which seemed to take on tremendous proportions before him, and announced at once that he would not consent to an interview, but would be glad to take any questions I might have ready to present to him and give me a written statement at his leisure.

Conclusively and solemnly, as his long, pointed fingers busied themselves with his papers, he explained, "I never give interviews." A man of decision, I told myself noticing the straight line his mouth made when he was not smiling.

STURZO IS BUSY MAN

But for all that he laughed heartily when I assured him quite as solemnly that this was very bad for the correspondents, and when I began questioning him he entered upon a long explanation of the program of the Popolare Party, the while he answered the telephone, signed letters and gave occasional orders to an attendant, who popped in and out of old Roman doors regardless of interviews. Plainly the business of the party was not to be interfered with.

"The Popolare Party has a general program that includes first of all the development of agrarian production," Don Sturzo told me, "because Italy is pre-eminently an agricultural country.

"With neither coal nor iron, Italy has always been handicapped in industrial production and certainly cannot compete with other countries under the new methods of production. At the same time then that we develop the agrarian production, we wish to reduce the artificial industries, such as the production of heavy metals. In this way we shall be able to form a substantial trade that will create colditions desirable for foreign capital.

TO BUILD UP SHIPPING

"And, thirdly, we wish to build up our shipping, especially for trade in the Mediterranean and Black Seas.

"Italy has found herself in a bad way economically for several reasons. She is exporting less than she used to; there are fewer tourists than there used to be, and those who come spend less money; and finally her emigration has been stopped for the time being."

"But how," I asked him, "do you expect to build up your production in the face of the fact that organised labor is making?"

"We have our own syndicates of labor," he replied, "which are particularly strong in the country."

"But not as strong as the Socialist syndicates," I said.

To this he only answered that he believes "the syndicates have a valuable mission in solving the economic conditions of any country. They bring about the balance between the laws of capitalism and the needs of the workman.

How We Are Able To See Depth And Imitate It

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS

(Eminent Astronomer and Authority on Subjects of Scientific Interest)

"Would you kindly explain, in a layman's way, why we see in a stereoscope the depth which is not reproduced in a photograph?"

Because the lenses of the stereoscope bend the rays of light from the two slightly divergent pictures placed in the focus in such a way as to blend the images together in a manner closely similar to that in which the two images formed by the eyes in an ordinary seeing are blended.

To understand how the impression of "depth," or relative distance, is produced by the blending together of the two images, one formed by each eye but both together regarded as a single one by the brain, or the sense of sight, you may try two or three simple experiments.

Begin by setting on one end a short lead pencil upon a sheet of white paper lying on a rather high desk or table. Now, close one eye, and without having experimentally determined the distance of the pencil, try to put your forefinger upon its point. You will almost inevitably fail. With only one eye to see with you cannot judge the distance, you underestimate it, and your finger, though apparently descending upon the pencil, passes an inch or more inside its true position.

Then open both eyes and you will have no difficulty whatever in putting your finger precisely on the point of the pencil. You require both eyes to get the true perspective. If however, you repeat the experiment once or twice without changing your position, you can direct your finger successfully with only one eye open, because now experience has taught you the distance.

Next, vary the experiment by holding the pencil before you at a distance of about fourteen inches (the precise distance varies with different persons), and with both eyes open you see the pencil projected as a single image against the background. But bring the pencil slowly nearer your eyes, keeping both open, and presently it will seem to divide, and you will see two images of the pencil projected against the paper, and the nearer you bring the pencil the wider apart the images will be.

Close each eye alternately and the images appear separately, that formed by the left eye being toward the right, and that formed by the right eye toward the left. And, if you observe each image separately you will perceive that the left eye sees farther around the left side of the pencil and the right eye farther around the right side, so that the two images are really not exactly the same, but they show the pencil, each from a slightly different angle.

Finally, move the pencil away again to the original distance, the distance of distinct vision, and the two images will blend together once more. But if now you again close the eyes alternately you will see that the two images really do not yet coincide in position, only they are less widely separated than they were when near the eye.

This shows that at the distance of distinct vision the eyes themselves are able to produce the effect of their images so that the brain is aware only of a single image of the object. But that image stands out "in the round," or has "depth," because, as you clearly perceived when you observed them separately with the pencil near the eye, the two images that are now blended into one, show the object one a little around one side and the other a little around the other side, so that, together, they show a little around both sides, the result being that the front of the object is seen projecting toward the observer; in other words, it appears "solid" and not "flat."

Carry the experiment one step farther. Move the pencil to a distance of several feet and again observe it alternately with each eye. You will see that the images are now quite close together while the appearance of roundness is less decided. And if you place yourself several yards from the pencil, the image will practically blend together, as seen against a background only a few inches behind, and, if you did not know better you might think the pencil actually rested against the background.

Trying similar experiments with the larger objects and longer distances in a landscape you will soon convince yourself that all appearance of perspective depth, which gives, unexpectedly, so much animation to the world around us, is due to our possession of two eyes, each of which, because of their distance apart, gives a view of the same object from a slightly different point while the sense of vision is able to blend these views into apparently solid single images

But this power is limited by distance, and away off on the horizon, objects whose respective distances from us may differ considerably, seem to lie in one vertical plane.

Now the secret of the stereoscope is that its object of view is a pair of photographs, made from slightly divergent points of view, thus imitating the divergent images made by the eyes, and by means of lenses turning the rays of light the two photographs are blended into one, with the sometimes startling result of making the scene stand out as if it really had four dimensions.

They provide the progress to industry."

And he added, "I do not fear the 'red' syndicates, because we have our own organisations of workers."

"And what about the Fascisti syndicates? You must surely reckon with them if your party does anything that the Fascisti do not agree with?"

PRIEST FLAYS FASCISTI

"For the moment," said Don Sturzo, "the Fascisti cannot be said to have a character of economic spirit. They have rather the character of youthful spirit. They are the defenders of capitalism, and at the same time they declare that they wish to organise the proletariat. One cannot defend capitalism and the proletariat at the same time."

The land program of the Popolare Party plans to increase agricultural production; to transform methods of production, and to take over the land from large holders.

The first two plans will be accomplished, so everyone agrees through the electrification of the country, which is without fuel but has tremendous waterpower. At the same time this electrical development will transform industrial production. I have been told by an expert American investigator that Italy is no longer able to compete with the superior methods of production and distribution of the California fruit growers.

CHANGE IN LAND LAWS

The redivision of land now in the hands of large owners, particularly in Southern Italy, has long been the dream of Southern political leaders. And Don Sturzo is a Sicilian. A bill is before the Italian Parliament now that provides for many changes in the present land laws, including the gradual taking over of land from large holders. This land will be redistributed among colonies of workers or to co-operative organisations or to banks, for which payment will be made half in capital and half in bonds. The bill also provides for changes in the terms of agreement between owners and tenants, so that long terms of contract will be signed, thereby encouraging developments that require years to accomplish.

Don Sturzo declared that this program does not in any way intend to turn the property over to the peasants as Soviet Russia did. "We will develop the land and permit groups of workers to manage it at the same time, so that no one will be given land and no tools."

"And what about the question of suffrage for women in Italy?" I asked him.

"Our program includes suffrage for women."

"Yes, but you have sufficient votes, together with the Socialists, whose program also includes suffrage, to carry a measure. Then why don't you introduce it?"

WOULD LET WOMEN VOTE

"Very soon, now that we have finished the conference at Genoa and settled down to work again, we shall introduce a new bill."

"And will it be passed at once?"

Don Sturzo smiled. "It will be passed before this Legislature falls," he answered.

"But that might not be for years," I answered—a rather optimistic remark to make about an Italian Legislature.

The mere matter of three or four more years seemed altogether unimportant to Don Sturzo so far as woman suffrage is concerned. He replied, as every politician in America and in England used to reply.

"This is not the time," he said, "to disturb our national affairs. We must wait a little, because when Italy gives the vote to women it will mean the fall of the present Parliament and the calling of a new election, so that the new voters will be represented."

"You did not hesitate to bring on the fall of the Government when universal suffrage was granted to your men," I reminded him.

Don Sturzo again smiled to himself. He dismissed me with a cordial handshake and, still smiling, said: "Yes, they will surely have the vote during this session of the Legislature—some time."

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of colic in children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SIMPSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.

"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
F. GERALD BLATTNER, M. D., Buffalo, N. Y.

"A medicine so valuable and beneficial for children as your Castoria is deserves the highest praise. I find it in use everywhere."
J. S. ALEXANDER, M. D., Omaha, Neb.

"I have prescribed Castoria to families for several years. It is all right. Mothers like it, for children will take it without any trouble."
C. A. WILSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.

"Have used your Castoria on various occasions in suitable cases and have found it a palatable and efficient laxative, especially in the various diseases of childhood."
CHAS. EDWARD GARDINER, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children, known the world over. I gain it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complaints of infants and children."
J. A. BOARMAN, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

Exchange Fluctuations
Asia Banking Corporation

August 14, 1922
Spot Bar Silver was down ⅛d and Forward unchanged in London Saturday. The New York price declined to 65⅝ cents and the London-New York Cross Rate improved to 446½. The only change in our Official Rates here today was a drop in the Franc rate to 920.
Our market opened steady this morning, business at the opening being done in Sterling at 3-5⅛ for forward delivery and in Gold Dollars at 76½. Banks were good sellers at these rates and speculators in turn became sellers, selling a fair amount of Sterling at rates varying between 3s. 5⅛d. and Gold Dollars at 76⅝.
While the market eased off slightly just after the tiffin interval it firmed up again just before the close, closing with sellers of Sterling at 3s. 5⅛d. for any delivery to the end of the year and of Gold Dollars at 76¾.
Some Yen were offered during the afternoon at 62⅜, as however there were a fair amount of bills in the market today and little demand, banks were rather unwilling buyers.
Franc bills were done today at rates varying between 965 and 970. At the close banks were quoting 970 only. India resold a small amount of silver in London on Saturday and the market there as well as in New York is featureless.
